One of the new laws enacted by the Legislature extends the common school term in Kentucky to seven months, effective next year.

Gov. Morrow vetoed the Thompson tax bill, which would have changed the tax laws of Kentucky very materially. Also, he vetoed the gas bill promoted by the Louisville gas company. The State University appropriations also suffered a veto.

A spider bonus bill estimated to mean an expenditure of four to five billions of dollars was passed by the House of Representatives at Washington a few days ago by a big majority. The few who stood out against it declared the bill to be a measure to buy the soldier vote, and pointed out the enormous burden it will put upon the country, already burdened almost to the limit with debt.

The city government bill vetoed by Governor Morrow was the result of agitation for a simplification of the form of government for Louisville, abolition of useless offices and a shorter ballot, which was fostered by Louisville civic clubs. As a result a committee of citizens was appointed which drew up the plan of the proposed changes and reported on them last April. They received general public approval and were endorsed by both parties.

The position of oil inspector for the city of Louisville (or Jefferson county) is said to pay $50,000 per year in fees, making it a political office second only to the Presidency of the United States so far as salary goes. It is held by Chesby Seay, Republican, professional politician. The recent Legislature passed a bill limiting the inspector's total fees to $3600 per year, the remainder to go into the State treasury. Of course the treasury doesn't need it, therefore Gov. Morrow vetoed the bill after the Legislature adjourned. Also, he vetoed the bill giving to Louisville a change in the form of city government which was called for in the platform of both parties last November. Seay and Matt Chilton opposed the bill and they again showed themselves to be stronger with the Governor than all the civic organizations and the party platforms.

Osric Picklesimer Dies in Philippines.

The following interesting account of the death of Osric Picklesimer, formerly a young teacher of this county, who died at Zamboanga, Mindanao, Philippine Islands. The account of his death was taken from the Mindanao Herald:

"The American community of Zamboanga records the death of one more of America's young men who came to the Philippine Islands to labor for the uplift and betterment of the Filipino people.

On the night of November 28 Mr. Osric Picklesimer died in the Zamboanga hospital from a complication of pneumonia and pleurisy following a short illness from tracheitis.

"Mr. Osric Picklesimer came to the Islands in 1917 as a teacher in the Bureau of Education. He served as supervising teacher in several provinces, including Bukidnon and Lanao, before coming to Zamboanga. He was highly recommended by all his superiors and was considered an efficient, honest and faithful employee by all who knew him. He bore the highest reputation among all who knew him for honesty, integrity and fair dealing. In other words, he was an exemplary young man, having none of the vices which is too often acquired by young men who come to the Islands severing home ties and living among strangers.

"The funeral services were held in Rev. Land's chapel on St. Maria road, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, of the 29th of November and the remains were interred in the American cemetery in Tumaga.

"It is known that Mr. Osric Picklesimer has a mother, brother and sister living in Volga, State of Kentucky, U. S. A., who will be advised of his death.

"In order to take charge of his effects left by the deceased, Mr. E. M. Smoyer of the educational department was appointed by the Court of First Instance by special administrator of Estate."

Nitroglycerine Tanks Explodes at Oil Springs.

The storage tank of the Cumberland Torpedo Company located at Oil Springs exploded last Friday night at about 12 o'clock. About 10 o'clock the house containing a large supply of nitroglycerine was discovered to be on fire but no one dared to attempt to get close enough to put out the fire. People in that section were notified and for two hours waited for the explosion that they knew must follow the fire. Little damage was done to property in that section and only a few windows have been reported broken, but all the residents got a heavy shock.

The explosion was felt in Paintsville and caused considerable excitement among the people.

MATTIE

The people are shocked and very sad over the death of Bro. Felix Thompson of Ledoto, Ky. He was a local preacher, a loving husband, a kind father and a devoted man to his profession, loved by all who knew him and will be greatly missed in our community. He was brought here and his funeral was preached by Bro. Vess Ball and Bro. McClung. The body was laid to rest in the family cemetery by the side of his daughter, Lizzie. A very large crowd attended the funeral. His children were all present and most of his relatives, the day was fine weather, warm, and the people gathered from far and near.

Dr. Osborn was called to our community last Thursday.

Bro. McClung filled his regular appointment last Sunday evening.

Theodore Johnson of Ohio is visiting home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ball attended church at Mattie Sunday.

Complete Assortments of Spring Apparel for the Baby

Spring is a real event for wee folks—a happy one for it means a glad change from confined quarters to a generous share of the great outdoors. Preparing the baby for the sudden change from cold to warmth is of course, largely a matter of proper clothing. Through the varying temperatures of spring, the mother must match the day with the garment, and the tiny wardrobe must be complete enough to furnish just the right amount. A sweater for the early days, a light weight coat for evenings or while mothering, and enough dainty dresses to keep him sweet and clean when summer comes to stay. Our showings provide every item of apparel that the most thoughtful mother could wish for—and the assortments have been chosen with a painstaking care that make them as practical as they are beautiful.

Let's begin at the top
—and suggest

—A New Cap or Bonnet

The daintiest of confections are offered in these newer effects. They're made of organdie, French lawn, crepe de chine and pique, and daintily trimmed with hand-smocking in baby pink and blue. —also an unusually beautiful collection of hand-made imported caps and bonnets in the ever popular French and Normandy styles.

Some of the plainer effects are priced as low as 75c, while the elaborate hand-made models range up to $12.50

Dainty New Dresses

—are moderately priced

Machine-made dresses that rival the daintiness of the hand-made styles are made of the best quality organdies, batiste and French lawns. There are long and short models—some with smart little sashes, and trimmed with laces and colored smocking.

Several of these garments are essential to every tiny wardrobe, and their moderate prices will enable you to purchase as many as you need. Priced from $1.00 to $5.00.

The famous line of

BERNARD COATS

—in gorgeous spring fabrics

Not only are these coats made with more care than other juvenile apparel, but they are distinctive in styling, and fashioned from such materials as Crepe de chine, crepella, French serge, faille silks and basket weave tweeds. Rich trimmings of hand-made lace, dainty embroidery and French plaiting add much to their attractiveness.

Priced from $5 to $25

Colorful New Sweaters and Capes

May be chosen in honeydew, jockey red, china blue, Boston brown, or in the less striking tints of blue, pink and tan. There are tuxedo styles, slip-overs and plain coat models in sizes to fit the infant of one or several summers.

All-wool and priced from $2.25 to $7.50

Tiny Straw Hats are daintily Beribboned

Roller brim models and poke effects are fashioned from hemp, leghorn and milan, and show a dash and smartness all their own. Cleverly trimmed with velvet and cross grain ribbons—priced from $1.25 to $10 —second floor

WORRIED HUSBANDS—READ THIS

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is the Best Tonic for Nervous, Tired-Out Wives.

Is your wife "all tired out" and cross and irritable much of the time? Do the children "bother her to death" every day, and do the ordinary household tasks that she formerly performed with ease seem now to overtax her? In other words, do you often come home to a house of trouble instead of a house of joy and happiness? If your answer is "yes" to these pointed questions, don't blame your wife until she has taken Gude's Pepto-Mangan with her meals for a few weeks. She is simply run-down and nervous and needs the kind of iron that she will get in Gude's Pepto-Mangan to give her more vitality and strength. For thirty years doctors have recommended Gude's Pepto-Mangan as a first-class building-up tonic. Sold by your druggist in both liquid and tablet form. Advertisement.

IN MEMORY

In loving remembrance of dear Malissa Tackett, who departed this life March 22, 1922, aged 31 years and 23 days.

Malissa is gone but not forgotten. Never will her memory fade. Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger around the grave where she is laid. We love her, oh yes we love her. But the Saviour loved her more. So the angels sweetly called her. To that bright and happy shore. The golden gates were opened. A gentle voice said "come". And with farewells unspoken. She calmly entered home. It was hard to part with Malissa. Oh so and to see her die. But we will try to meet her. Some sweet day by and by. She is survived by a husband, three children, one sister, Lora Bell Hall of Portsmouth, Ohio, and one brother, George Hall, of Catlettsburg Ky. HER COUSIN.
